

Day 1 Arrival day 5/12/2014:

Weather when I left was 58...Orlando was 87 hot and humid

Left Providence at 8:30 and arrived at MCO at 11:20. Seeing my girlfriend is a snowbird she meet me at the check-in area for MDX. Once on the bus we talked and smiled all the way. Got to POFQ around noon and to both our surprise our room was ready. Not only were the rooms ready I got the building I had requested..building 5. So we went to the room and she dropped off her luggage (mine would be delivered later).

Now we headed to Downtown Disney via the boat ride from POFQ. Which is one of the biggest plus to staying at POFQ or POR

When we were at Downtown Disney we met up with Figments Girl and her mother at Earl Of Sandwich and it was wonderful to finally put a face with one of the members. What can I say I hate pictures (am the one on the right). So from left to right we have Figments Girl, my girlfriend Lil and me.

We spend a wonderful time chatting with both Figments Girl and her mother. We went back to POFQ around 4:30 to relax as travel day is long. We did end up taking the boat to POR just to walk around around 6 and made it back to POFQ around 8:30pm and realize we hadn't had dinner but we really wasn't that hungry so we went to the Scat Cat's Club for a couple of nightcaps..Chocolate Martini.

Overall: the day was fantastic no boohoo issues.

Day 2 Magic Kingdom day 5/13/2014 (park hours 9am – 11pm):

Weather: mid 80's

The day started early as early as I wanted to catch the 8:30 am bus to MK to see the opening as that is a must. We had breakfast at Sassagoula Floatworks at 7:15 am. Breakfast was good but I was too excited so just sort of played with my food.

Our first ride was It's a small world (another must for me) then Philharmagic and Winnie the Pooh and then it was time for Peter Pan as we had FP for 10:45. After that we started toward Liberty Square and went right for our first Dole Whip (Lillian had never had one before) which ended up being our lunch. So we took our time enjoying every mouthful. After that we did the Jungle Cruise (which was a 45 minute wait..yikes), Riverboat ride, Haunted Mansion. Did some shopping and went on the People Mover. Am sure you noticed I jump all around. We had a FP for Disney Festival of Fantasy Parade and we had to go check in around 2:50 so we headed over to the Castle. I was a wonderful location for watching this parade and the parade didn't disappoint me at all. Maybe because of the time of year there weren't many people in this special viewing area or maybe people didn't want to use one of their FP's for this but in any advent we were very happy. After the parade we did some more shopping and went Pirates of the Caribbean as we had our last FP of the day which was 4:25pm. After that we went in and out of more shops until it was dinner time. And I must say we were both getting hungry. I guess the Dole Whip wasn't enough for lunch. 😊

Dinner: Liberty Tree Tavern for 6:20pm which I must say is a must for me every trip. And as usual it was awesome.

After dinner we just did whatever until it was time for the Electric Parade which was at 9:00 pm followed by Wishes at 10:00 pm. Need I say anything more about either event as they are both dynamite.

We got back to POFQ and stopped in the Scat Cat's Club for another Chocolate Martini which is to die for maybe it was the way John the Bartender made them either way yummmmmmmmmmy.

Overall: the day was magical as it always is. The only boohoo was I didn't get to see the Flag Retreat at 5pm and I so wanted to see that and the biggest boohoo is no Seven Dwarfs Mine Train ride as it wasn't opened.

Day 3 Magic Kingdom/ Epcot day 5/14/2014:

**8:00 am – 1:00 pm was spent at MK

2:00 pm – 9:00 was spent at Epcot

Weather: Mid 80's hot and humid; Thunderstorm/Rain from about 11:30 – 3:00 pm

We were up early 5:45 am as we had Marceline to MK Tour today. Can I just say how excited we were to do this tour as we have never, ever done a tour before. So we had breakfast at Sassagoula Floatworks and got the 7:30 bus to MK as we had to be there for 8:00 am. It was awesome to see main street and the Castle without millions and millions people. I can tell you our tour guide was just awesome and to go under the Haunted Mansion was dynamite and to learn things I didn't know has shed a new light on Haunted Mansion. So when I go back (which sadly won't be for 3 – 4 years) there will be another tour for sure. And the day only gets better because I had received an email from Disney giving us a FP for lunch at BOG. Wow 2 very magical things on the same day. So we had lunch at BOG and seeing that neither of us had been there before we took our time and walked around. It was just awesome.

Around 2:00 pm we were at Epcot and at 2:20 pm we had our first FP of the day for Spaceship Earth. After that we went to Pineapple Promenade so we could try our very first spiked Dole Whip with rum. And can I just say..let's have another. ☺

We walked around a few more countries and head to Soarin as we had a FP for 4:25 pm. We had to do Figment and Circle of Life. Our last FP of the day was for Living in the Land for 5:00 pm. We left there and headed towards Ellen's Energy Adventure.

Dinner: Garden Grill for 6:30 pm. This had been our first time there and I say it was ok but seeing I have been once I don't care to do that again. And the other thing was it was not revolving so that was disappointing.

Overall: MK was just over the top..with the tour and BOG..nothing but magic. The only boohoo was at Garden Grill because it was revolving and the food was just ok and you would think I would say the thunderstorm and rain would have put a damper on MK but it didn't..all magical.
